

Death of Miss Jessie Curd.

The Fulton Sun of January 1st, announced the death of Miss Jessie Curd at Talledega, Alabama, Saturday, of typhoid fever, the funeral being held on Wednesday afternoon at her old home in Fulton, Mo., conducted by Rev. A. A. McGeachy.

Miss Curd had numerous acquaintances in Marshall, friends all, as a result of several visits to the home of Rev. W. R. Dohyans. Her disposition was sweet and lovable, her temperament hopeful and buoyant; her interest and confidence in others brought a return trust in her own character. The loss of those whose characters are beautiful, whose contact with the world makes it a better place for others, is always keenly felt, especially by the inner circles, the family to whom in this instance the sympathy of many friends of the deceased is extended.

Mrs. Martha Stephens Rolwing.

The death of Mrs. Edward G. Rolwing of Charleston, Mo., was received in our city with deepest regret and sadness by all who knew her. She was Miss Martha G. Stephens, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Speed Stephens of Boonville, who was married just 9 months ago to E. G. Rolwing of Charleston, Mo., and in company with her husband went to Boonville to spend the holidays with her parents. She was taken sick with grip but grew better, when her husband left her to finish her visit in Boonville, while he returned to his home. On Tuesday she became suddenly worse, the symptoms developing pneumonia and she died Monday night at 12:30, just at the dawning of the new year, before her husband could reach her bedside.

She was so young, not quite twenty years of age, and we find ourselves wondering why she was taken. She had much to live for and her early death is especially sad. Many friends in our city, who have met her in her frequent visits to Mrs. Abiel Leonard are full of sympathy for the young husband, father, mother and relatives, all of whom are crushed at this dispensation of Providence.

Deceased was a consistent member of the Episcopal church and death had for her no terrors. The funeral was held on Thursday at the residence of Speed Stephens in Boonville.

The REPUBLICAN extends sympathy.

Advice to La Grippe Sufferers

Victims of La Grippe, overworked men and women, tired mothers, all should take

DR. A. V. BANES REMEDIES as indicated by their symptoms, as well as pay heed to nutrition. Loss of appetite, unbalanced nerve centres, sleeplessness, nervousness, palpitation of heart are nature's warnings that the system is below par.

Try the effect of a little light nourishment, regularly, between meals and at bedtime and you will be surprised at the vast amount of benefit secured. When we eat, we set in motion a most perfect machinery. Food, nutritious and plentiful, is the oil which keeps the lamp of life brightly burning.

Rostell in "King Lear."

Marshall people are to be treated to a rendition of Shakespeare's "King Lear" Saturday night at the Opera House. Mr. Rostell is not a stranger here nor is he a novice in playing dramas of the great English bard. His reputation will help him out in securing him a good house. His conceptions though original are generally well taken and his acting demonstrates considerable ability and much study.

A good time and an abundance to eat is reported.

Mr. Brooks is no stranger to the lyceum platform. During the past ten seasons he has appeared in almost every state in the Union and he has never failed to win admiration and stir up enthusiasm among his auditors. At times he is as tender as Cowper; as patriotic as Whittier; as majestic as Bryant; as funny as Mark Twain. He is a poet, an orator and a genius combined. There is no one among our long list of entertainers that we can recommend with more confidence than Fred Emerson Brooks. Marshall Opera House, January 8th.
